Tewa Language Discussion

Wednesday, February 21, 2024

6pm to 7pm

San Ildefonso Pueblo Senior Center

Join the Tewa Language Department as we host a Tewa Language Open Discussion for the young and old on anything (to a degree) pertaining to our Culture, Traditions, Pueblo, etc. with anyone who is interested. We encourage those of you who know our Tewa Language to please attend so that we may have a variety of Tewa speakers there to talk.

The conversations will be spoken in our San I Tewa Language so that anyone wanting to listen, learn and know what is said in our language may listen and also ask questions but will be answered mostly in Tewa.

I am hopeful this new community event will lead further into the future so that anyone wanting to learn, talk or just hear our Tewa Language will be able to.

Kun-da-woh-ha na-vé Pó-Woh-gé Towa-ín,

Leon Roybal (AwaTsé-deh)
Tewa Language Manager

Attachment and Substance Use

By Laura Woodring, LPCC
Clinical Therapist with Serna Solutions

CONNECTION: A relationship between 2 people. We all want connection and seek it when we are very young. It is, in fact, what makes us human and social beings. The sense of belonging, being loved and cared for is essential for our well-being.

I have always been interested in the connection between our early childhoods and substance use. Attachment theory is based on research that essentially says we all seek connection when we are babies. While it may be difficult for some of us to remember that far back, if you think about it it makes sense. When our caregivers are present for us and available for our needs, they give us a sense of security, giving us the ability to have a secure attachment and feel that we are loved.

Not all of us are this lucky, and sometimes we have inconsistent or neglectful caregivers. This is where substances such as alcohol and drugs may come into play in our lives. We learn about relationships when we are very young, from our parents or other primary caregivers (aunties, grandparents, etc). When a caregiver isn't necessarily available, we learn that the world is not safe and that we cannot depend on anyone. As adults, one of the ways we may cope is by using drugs or drinking.

People then develop a relationship with drugs or alcohol. The drugs or alcohol are always there for them, they don't judge or talk back to us. It's always there and fills a void that has been present for years. However, drugs and alcohol are not healthy and they never really give anyone a sense of being loved or loveable.

Being willing to explore one's relationship with alcohol or drugs takes a lot of courage. But I encourage anyone that may be struggling with either alcohol or drug use to take the first step and be curious about the role drugs or alcohol play in their life. Then, the healing may begin...

Questions and Answers – Waiting List

I want to apply with SIHA for housing, what kind of housing is SIHA looking to build at Deer Tail Phase 2 (DTVP2)?

SIHA had to approach the DTVP2 project differently due to limited grant funding that SIHA will receive on an annual basis, therefore the 27 homesites at the DTVP2 – 27 homesites will consist of MORTGAGES.

What happens after I submit my application for housing?

SIHA obtains and verifies information from the applicant. The application constitutes the basic record of each family applying for admission. Each applicant will supply the requested information, and attest to the accuracy of the supplied information. SIHA will verify the supplied information and add to the waiting list.

All applications will be referred to Homewise in Santa Fe who will also provide Financial Fitness and Homebuyer Education classes on the San Ildefonso Pueblo (SIHA will notify you when those trainings occur, and they are mandatory to move on to the next step).

What number am I on the waiting list?

Applications received are entered on the waiting list by the date received, even though you may be #5 on the waiting list that doesn't mean you are the 5th person to be selected for a home. Selection is based on several factors as stated below.

Who will determine if I'm selected for the DTVP2 home project?

When you complete the training, you will work one-on-one with Homewise who will help determine what Mortgage financing would work best for you based on your ability to pay, income and your credit score. There may be some applicants who aren't ready to move to the phase of Mortgage financing, you may have to work towards improving your credit score or funding source, however you will remain on the waiting list.

If you move to the next phase of determining Mortgage financing the Mortgage company will tell you what amount you are eligible for to build a home or obtain a manufactured home. At this time SIHA will assign a homesite to you in the DTVP2 subdivision.

Will SIHA seek funding to build homes on the San Ildefonso Pueblo?

SIHA will be applying for grants and hopefully awarded to build homes, SIHA is still considered a new Tribally Designated Housing Entity (TDHE). The staff must work up to the capacity level required to be awarded competitive grants. SIHA has applied for the 2023 Indian Community Development Block Grant (ICDBG) for Down Payment Assistance, if awarded this will help the families selected for the DTVP2. It is not known when the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) will announce the awardees.

SIHA is also seeking other funding sources to assist low-income families, SIHA understands there is a need for housing and it's long overdue, however everything has a process and SIHA must adhere to that process.

I applied with Northern Pueblos Housing Authority, where is that application?

No applications were transferred to SIHA, and it is not known where those applications are located, therefore, SIHA must start from square one. At this point SIHA needs applicants to show a need for housing on the San Ildefonso Pueblo, therefore you are encouraged to submit an application.

Applications are available on SIHA's website at sanihousing.org and the SIHA Office during regular business hours Monday – Friday 7:30 a.m. – 4:30 p.m.

Southwest Ecological Monitoring Technician

Job title: SW Ecological Monitoring Technician

Location: Santa Fe, NM

Status: Seasonal, full-time, June 3rd – August 23rd, 2024

Compensation: $18.91/hour

Application deadline: Friday, February 9th, 2024

The Forest Stewards Guild (the Guild) is hiring two Ecological Monitoring Technicians to support field data collection and data entry for the Guild's Collaborative Forest Landscape Restoration Program (CFLRP) projects. The technicians will be based out of our Santa Fe, New Mexico office and will travel to field sites using a Guild vehicle. Technicians will work 32-40 hours per week for 10-12 weeks from June 3rd – August 23rd, 2024 (exact dates are somewhat flexible depending on individual candidate availability). This position offers a unique opportunity to work on the Guild's collaborative forestry and watershed projects and engage with a diverse array of project partners, including other local non-governmental organizations, federal and state agencies, and private land managers, to monitor forest and watershed health. In addition to field monitoring and data input, Guild staff will support technicians with other conservation focused career development opportunities depending on the candidate's interests.

About the Guild

The Guild is a national organization of foresters and allied natural resource professionals dedicated to practicing and promoting responsible forestry as a means of sustaining the integrity of forest ecosystems and the human communities dependent upon them. The Guild has over 700 members, over half of whom are professionals that manage over 42 million acres of forestland in the United States and Canada. The Guild maintains regional offices in New Mexico, Maine, Minnesota, North Carolina, Oregon, Colorado, and Wisconsin.

About the Position

The Ecological Monitoring Technician will support the work of the Guild to promote collaborative land management in the southwest. The monitoring technician will play a key role on the Guild team to promote resilient ecosystems and document forest and watershed change over time. The technician's primary activities will include:

- Collect field data from forest monitoring plots across multiple forest types in southern Colorado and northern New Mexico. Measurements include stand metrics, fuel loads, vegetation ID, photo points, and native pollinator surveys.
- Monitor riparian corridor health utilizing multiple methods, including stream temperature sensors, remote cameras, photo points, and water sampling.
- Camp in the field for two-to-four-night hitches with a small crew (2-3 people) while practicing safe and ecologically responsible field behavior.

- Enter field data into established databases.
- Maintain field gear (including GPS units, cameras, field guides, and measurement tools).
- Support Guild staff with communicating to project partners about ecological monitoring.
- Other activities and training that align with technician's interests and career goals.

Position Requirements

The ideal candidate will have an interest in forestry, natural resources, or conservation and have experience in southwestern forest ecosystems. Most of this work will be performed outdoors. Situational awareness is important for crew safety and hiking over varied terrain while carrying monitoring equipment will be necessary. Travel on unpaved roads in inclement weather and camping (up to 4 days at a time) may be required depending on monitoring site locations. Candidates should have a valid driver's license. Technicians will be responsible for their own lodging and living expenses.

Minimum Qualifications:

- High school diploma and experience in forestry and/or ecology-based fieldwork
- Strong organizational skills and attention to detail
- Clear verbal and written communication skills
- Ability to work independently and with a team
- Experience using a map and/or GPS to navigate
- Experience working and camping outdoors

Preferred Qualifications:

- Completed college coursework in forestry, ecology, or a related field
- First aid and CPR certifications
- Knowledge of southwest forests, including vegetation ID and field safety
- Experience conducting ecological monitoring
- Experience with Microsoft Excel, ArcGIS Pro, and Survey123

Additional Information

The position pays $18.91 per hour. Paid holiday and leave benefits are accrued based on the percentage of full-time hours worked. The Forest Stewards Guild is an equal opportunity employer. The Guild is dedicated to providing an open, transparent, and just organization and workplace. We strive for clear, open, and kind communication and are committed to recruiting, hiring, mentoring, and supporting practitioners from underrepresented communities.
