2021 NM Legislative Session

The NM 2021 Legislative Session has adjourned! This year’s session was conducted via zoom and although there were challenges, much work needed to be done and that work paid off. The Pueblo has had a successful Legislative program with the help of Lobbyist Mark Duran. The Pueblo sought funding for major improvement projects including Gym/Tewa Center renovation and IT facilities/broadband. Governor Chris Moquino and Lt. Governor Raymond Martinez, along with Mr. Duran participated in important meetings and represented the Pueblo and executed the needs of the Pueblo very well.

*The Legislative Office would like to encourage the community to get their Covid-19 vaccine and to please utilize resources that are available!

Covid-19 Testing Sites

Below are web links for COVID-19 testing sites. Community members please test 5 days after contact with a positive person to reduce false negative tests.

Indoor Air in Homes and Coronavirus (COVID-19)
https://www.epa.gov/coronavirus

COVID-19 is emerging, rapidly evolving situation and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention will provide updated information as it becomes available, in addition to updated guidance. This website provides key EPA resources on the coronavirus disease (COVID-19).

Please supplement this information with the latest advice from state, local, Tribal and federal agencies.

Air Cleaners, HVAC Filters, and Coronavirus (COVID-19)

Air cleaners and HVAC filters are designed to filter pollutants or contaminants out of the air that passes thru them. Air cleaning and filtration can help reduce airborne contaminants, including particles containing viruses. Portable air cleaners (also known as air purifiers) may be particularly helpful when additional ventilation with outdoor air is not possible without compromising indoor comfort (temperature or humidity), or when outdoor air pollution is high.

When used properly, air cleaners and HVAC filters can help reduce airborne contaminants including viruses in a building or small space. By itself, air cleaning or filtration is not enough to protect people from exposure to the virus that causes COVID-19. When used along with other best practices recommended by CDC and others, filtration can be part of a plan to reduce the potential for airborne transmission of COVID-19 indoors.

In order for an air cleaner to be effective in removing viruses from the air, it must be able to remove small airborne particles (in the size range of 0.1-1 um). Manufacturers report this capability in several ways. In some cases, they may indicate particle removal efficiency for specific particle sizes (e.g. "removes 99.9% of particles as small as 0.3 um"). Many manufacturers use the Clean Air Delivery Rate (CADR) rating system to rate air cleaner performance. Others indicate they use High Efficiency Particulate Air (HEPA) filters.

Air cleaners and HVAC filters in Homes

Portable air cleaners, also known as air purifiers or air sanitizers, are designed to filter the air in a single room or area. Central furnace or HVAC filters are designed to filter air throughout a home. Portable air cleaners and HVAC filters can reduce indoor air pollutants, including viruses, that are airborne. By themselves, portable air cleaners and HVAC filters are not enough to protect people from the virus that causes COVID-19. When used along with other best practices recommended by CDC and others, filtration can be part of a plan to protect people indoors.

Which air is more polluted?

- Indoor Air is a deadly mix of both Indoor & Outdoor Pollutants
- Outdoors is free flowing air

Read EPA’s “Guide to air cleaners in the home” (PDF).
Air cleaners and HVAC filters in Offices, Schools, and Commercial Buildings

The HVAC systems of large buildings typically filter air before it is distributed throughout a building, so consider upgrading HVAC filters as appropriate for your specific building and HVAC system (consult an HVAC professional). The variety and complexity of HVAC systems in large buildings requires professional interpretation of technical guidelines, such as those provided by ASHRAE and CDC. EPA, ASHRAE and CDC recommend upgrading air filters to the highest efficiency possible that is compatible with the system and checking the filter fit to minimize filter air bypass.

Consider using portable air cleaners to supplement increased HVAC system ventilation and filtration, especially in areas where adequate ventilation is difficult to achieve. Directing the airflow so that it does not blow directly from one person to another reduces the potential spread of droplets that may contain infectious viruses.

Air cleaning may be useful when used along with source control and ventilation, but it is not a substitute for either method. Source control involves removing or decreasing pollutants such as smoke, formaldehyde or particles with viruses. The use of air cleaners alone cannot ensure adequate air quality, particularly where significant pollutant sources are present and ventilation is insufficient. See ASHRAE and CDC for more information on air cleaning and filtration and other important engineering controls.

How to select a portable air cleaner for a residence that can effectively remove viruses

Choose a portable air cleaner that is intended for the room size in which it will be used and be sure it meets at least one of the following criteria:

1. it is designated as High-Efficiency Particulate Air (HEPA),
2. it is CADR rated, or
3. the manufacturer states that the device will remove most particles in the size range below 1 um.

Most manufacturers provide this information on the air cleaner packaging, label or website description.

Do not use air cleaners that intentionally generate ozone in occupied spaces or that do not meet state regulations or industry standards for ozone generation.

Do not use ozone generators in occupied spaces

Some products sold as air cleaners intentionally generate ozone. These products are not safe to use when people are present because ozone can irritate the airways.

Do not use ozone generators in occupied spaces. When used at concentrations that do not exceed public health standards, ozone applied to indoor air does not effectively remove viruses, bacteria, mold, or other biological pollutants.

Why is Ozone Dangerous?

Ozone is a tiny molecule which is composed of three oxygen atoms. It is highly reactive which makes it an unstable and potentially toxic gas. Ground-level ozone is considered to be a major component of smog which plagues larger cities during the summertime and has been tied to a variety of potential health risks.

Health Effects of Ozone

The EPA has reported there is a variety of health effects associated with high levels of ozone. This may include decreased lung function, throat irritation, severe asthma symptoms, cough, chest pain, shortness of breath, irritation of lung tissue, and the higher sensitivity to respiratory infection. They went on to note that there were additional risk factors which can perpetuate the side effects of ozone such as undertaking activities which raise breathing rates (such as exercising indoors), certain pre-existing lung diseases, and greater duration of exposure.

Dear San Ildefonso Community Members:

The Governor and Tribal Council hired our firm, Barbara Felix Architecture + Design, through a competitive proposal process in mid-2020 to provide planning services for a possible new museum and cultural center for Pueblo de San Ildefonso. A small group of tribal members have been assisting us in our endeavors, particularly in how we can include the larger community in the planning efforts.

Ideally, we would be able to meet with most of you personally or in small groups. Due to COVID-19 we are using different options to gather your feedback, including a series of surveys and interviews over the next couple of months. We hope that you will participate in making this project a true community endeavor.

Attached is our first survey. We will be distributing this in a variety of ways: food boxes, senior lunches, community bulletin, the community member Facebook list, and through the education department. We will have a link to fill out the survey online as well as a wood suggestion box at the Tribal Administration Offices to return physical copies.

Becca Snyder and I are both available to answer any questions or take comments, and can be reached at:

- Barbara Felix, Barbara.felix@bjfelix.com, 505-820-1555 (office) or 505-490-9710 (cell)
- Becca Snyder, becca.snyder@bjfelix.com, 505-820-1555 (office) or 330-201-1134 (cell)

It is an honor to work with your community on this exciting endeavor – and I look forward to meeting you, sharing food, and hearing your stories.

Respectfully,

Barbara J. Felix, AIA
Principal

CC: Governor Christopher Moquino

Managing Stress During COVID-19 (Coronavirus)

Stress during COVID-19 (Coronavirus)

The spread of a new virus like COVID-19 can be stressful. It is normal to feel fear and anxiety about COVID-19 as positive cases appear in local communities, and as routines are disrupted by social distancing and home isolation.

Stress during this time can have a big impact on home lives. It is normal to feel like things are out of control, but there are ways to bring down stress levels. To reduce stress, it is important to learn how to recognize the signs of stress and to learn strategies for managing stress. For some people - like those who experience violence at home - more help may be needed to support a safe home environment.

Recognizing the signs of stress

A person's body can react to stress in strong ways. People have different signs of stress, but they may include:

- An increase or decrease in energy and activity levels
- An increase in frustration, with outbursts of anger and frequent arguing
- Having trouble relaxing or sleeping
- Not wanting to eat or eating too much
- Worrying much more than usual
- Wanting to be alone most of the time
- Not able to feel pleasure or have fun
- Feeling depressed, anxious, or fearful
- An increase in alcohol use or use of illegal drugs

Strategies to manage stress

Stress can be managed, even when it feels like it's impossible to deal with. Here are some strategies to reduce stress at home:

- Take breaks from watching, reading, or listening to news stories, including social media. Instead, read a book or watch a show that takes the mind off the news.
- Care for the body! Take deep breaths with eyes closed, stretch, or meditate. Try to eat healthy, well-balanced meals, get plenty of sleep, and avoid alcohol and drugs.
- Exercise! Get outside for a walk, or do an in-home workout.
- Connect with others through a phone call or video chat! Share concerns and feelings with a friend or family member.
- Try to laugh! Humor is a great way to calm the mind.

Support for those at risk of violence in the home

People who experience violence or abuse at home may be experiencing increased stress and danger during this period of social distancing and home isolation.

If someone is experiencing violence or abuse in their home, they are not alone. There are many resources available to help:

- The National Domestic Violence Hotline is 24/7, confidential and free: 1-800-799-7233 and through chat.
- The National Sexual Assault Hotline is 24/7, confidential and free: 800.656.HOPE (4673) and through chat.
- The StrongHearts Native Helpline for domestic/sexual violence is available 7am-10pm CT, confidential, and specifically for Native communities: 1-844-762-8483.
- The SAMHSA Disaster Distress Helpline offers 24/7, confidential and free crisis counseling: 1-800-985-5990.
- They can also reach out to a friend, co-worker, or family member who can check in with them about their safety and support needs, and help them make plans for staying somewhere else if their situation becomes dangerous.

We all can support those at risk by reaching out to loved ones, friends, neighbors, and coworkers to see if they have the care and support they need, and if they feel safe at home. If you suspect someone you know may be experiencing violence or abuse at home, consider reaching out to let them know you are available to talk. You can also call the free, confidential National Domestic Violence Hotline 24/7 at 1-800-799-7233.

FISHING FOR TRIBAL MEMBERS

The Parks and Wildlife Program is pleased to announce an opportunity for households interested to fish at our lake for free to tribal members during Covid lockdown.

In order to be Covid-19 compliant, this is how the process will work.

- Up to six households with up to five members at time will be allowed to fish for up to 3 hours on Friday, Saturday and Sunday. Households with children will have first priority.

- A lottery system will be in place to ensure fairness. A neutral person will be selected to draw the names. The selected families will be notified one day ahead.

- The hours will be from 8:30am until 11:30. The gates will open at 8:15am and will close promptly at 12:00noon. Names, and vehicle makes will documented.
• The Rangers and Law Enforcement will patrol, monitor the lake and will strictly enforce covid-19 protocol.

• There will be six areas designated for fishing. First name or head of household selected will get first choice of location.

• Face masks will be required and groups are not to intermingle with other groups. Compliance will be strictly enforced.

• Catch limits will be 5 trout per line, one line per person will be allowed.

• Tentative date to open will be Friday April 9, 2021.

• This will be a trial period to work out the logistics, hours and days can be subject to change on a bi-weekly basis. Depending on feedback.

• To register your household and to ask questions contact the Tribal Rangers: Jerome L. Martinez @ 455-4136 or Jose Aguilar @ 455-4137
All men ages 18-54 who are enrolled tribal members are to participate
